

SPECIAL CONDITIONS

for the certification course European Regulatory Reporting Specialist (Frankfurt School)

1 Scope of Application

These Special Terms and Conditions apply to the certificate course European Regulatory Reporting Specialist (Frankfurt School). Besides these conditions the General Terms and Conditions apply to all Degree Programmes, Certification Courses of Study, Seminars of the Frankfurt School. In case of deviating regulation the Special Terms and Conditions have priority over the General Conditions.

2 Admission

2.1 Those who possess the professional and personal qualifications needed to participate in the certification course European Regulatory Reporting Specialist (Frankfurt School of Finance & Management gemeinnützige GmbH, herein after referred to as the 'Frankfurt School') can be admitted to this Certificate Course.

3 Study Material / Virtual Campus

3.1 Students will receive the study material from the Frankfurt School Program Coordination in either print version or a digital format.

3.2 To use and access internet based communication, information, and learning content, students receive access to the Frankfurt School Virtual Campus. The respective system requirements can be learned by asking the Frankfurt School Program Coordination.

3.3 The Frankfurt School along with their trainers, tutors, mentors etc. (subcontractors or vicarious agents) is not liable for damages to students that occur in association with the virtual campus except in cases of intent or gross negligence. There will especially be no liability taken for the accuracy of content on the virtual campus published on discussion boards, opinions, and case studies. The virtual campus serves the didactic supplementation of the courses on offer as a discussion forum for the exchange of ideas between all individuals participating in the course of study. The Frankfurt School does not espouse the posted contributions. The contributions in the virtual campus do not constitute, therefore, a consultation service with characteristics of liability from the Frankfurt School or their subcontractors or vicarious agents.

4 Exams

4.1 The certificate program is completed with a written examination. Admission to the examination is granted to those who have attended at least 3 of the 4 compulsory modules within 12 months of attending the first module. After successful completion of the final examination, the student is awarded the certificate "European Regulatory Reporting Specialist (Frankfurt School)".

4.2 The exam modalities are regulated by the examination rules valid at the beginning of the course of study and the general conditions for examination regulation at the Frankfurt School. These can be seen from the Frankfurt School Program Coordination. The examination rules valid at the beginning of the course of study will be valid for its entire duration.

4.3 The timely payment of the tuition fees is a precondition for the final certification. The Frankfurt School is, therefore, not required to admit students to quizzes, case studies and/or webinars when the students are in arrears of any payments due.

4.4 The Frankfurt School is sovereign over the evaluation and interpretation. The correctors and examiners or examination committee have an appropriate margin of discretion.

5 Changes to / Cancellation of the Course of Study

5.1 The Frankfurt School retains the right to switch trainers or make program changes as long as the overarching character of the program is maintained. The Frankfurt School further retains the right to change the starting time and / or announced location (within the same city) of learning events due to organizational reasons. In any case, the Frankfurt School will notify students of the necessary changes as quickly as possible.

5.2 The Frankfurt School also retains the right to cancel courses of study when the minimum number of participants (10) is not met (at the latest, 2 weeks before the beginning). In the case of cancellation, students will be promptly informed and the Frankfurt School will do its best to offer the students alternative replacement dates.

5.3 Trainer changes or insignificant changes to the course procedure do not entitle participants to a decrease in price or to cancellation of the contract. For cases of significant course content being left out, the study fees will be decreased proportionally. For the cancellation of a course of study, as in Section 2, the Frankfurt School will promptly refund the paid study fees. Further entitlements are out of the question except in cases of gross negligence or willful misconduct by employees or other vicarious agents of the Frankfurt School.

5.4 Specifying the place of study means that the courses at this location are usually held as classroom events. The Frankfurt School is entitled to relocate individual courses or the courses of individual departments to another location within a reasonable distance or to hold them as online courses due to official, health, teaching, spatial or comparable requirements. The courses of a programme may also be held partly or completely as online events if there are pedagogical-didactical or organizational reasons for doing so and the participants have been informed of this in good time. Online events in the aforementioned sense are typically carried out as real-time transmission, in which contact between lecturer and participant is possible at any time as in a classroom event.
